I wonder where this confounded draught is coming from. I feel nervous on top of my head now.

"Tom, old boy," replied the other, "you are desecrating yourself, for you have shown marked signs of approaching age within three minutes. Your belief that draughts and a few drops of water will cure you is a very old one, but it is not a new one. You are on the down hill side of life. The draught that you are drinking now, I notice, the hair is rather thin, it is a little more gray than it was a few days ago. Then here you are on the very front side of a draught. No use denying the signs, Tom. We are getting old, and must admit what others plainly see."

"PAINE'S" Has a World-wide

Record of Life-Saving.

If you are numbered among the sick and diseased, the medicine you need is the kind that has cured your friends and neighbors.

Paine's Celery Compound is, today, the only medicine that can meet your needs if you are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles, dyspepsia, it cures the most stubborn cases of constipation, nervousness, or from any other ailment. It cures the sick as surely as it cures the healthy.

The vast reputation that Paine's Celery

Compound has acquired as a life-saver, has led to the manufacture of many cheap imitations. Many people are deceived by these cheap imitations, and lose their valuable health. Be sure you get the original Paine's Celery Compound, and you will find it the only medicine that can cure you of all your troubles.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

Pleasant and Profitable Gathering of Educators.

A convention of the teachers of this county, held at Belleville, on Friday, Dec. 4th, inst., beginning at 9 a.m. This is the first of a series of conventions which the Association has been holding in the different townships of this county.

The subject taken up was that of "The Future of the Teacher," which was discussed by Mr. J. H. Hamilton, who, after speaking of the importance of the subject, pointed out the many mistakes that are made in writing letters, particularly in punctuation and arrangement.

Composition, by Mr. Stuppin, was the next subject taken up, in which he gave a faithful representation of the very great importance of this subject and explained his method of teaching it. In the discussion which followed, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Stuppin, Mr. Hicks, Mr. Frapp, Mr. Fairman, Mr. Lusk and Mr. Winterhouse.

Mr. J. V. Fairman explained his method of teaching geography, illustrating with the map of Africa, showing how he would teach the physical features, climate, productions, inhabitants, their occupations, etc.; would not give notes to be written down, but would constantly review.

Mr. O. S. Hicks followed with grammar to Third and Fourth classes, explaining his method of classifying simple sentences and their analysis, the different parts of speech, phrases and clauses, and their classification, parsing, punctuation. The subject was handled with Mr. Hicks' usual ability and animated discussion followed, in which a number of teachers took part.

Phonics, by Mr. Frapp, was the next subject discussed. He begins by the word method, teaching them a number of words sufficient to get all the sounds covered, and from the sounds thus taught build up other words. The great thing in teaching phonics is to get the children to understand thoroughly if one wishes good results. He then gave a careful explanation of his method of teaching, illustrating by lessons selected from the tables.

Mr. Winterhouse, of Trenton, pointed out a number of discrepancies in grammar and arithmetic, as found in our authorized text-books.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, Belleville, Board of Education, gave a address, and in the course of his remarks, complimented the teachers of Hastings on the efficiency of the work done by them, and expressed the hope that the time was near when the salaries of male and female teachers would be the same.

A number of the visiting teachers, at the close of the convention, went through the building and examined themselves as to the progress of the work done.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Session Opened—Wardens' Opening Remarks.

TUESDAY, DEC. 8.

The December session of the County Council opened at 2:30 this afternoon, all the members present. The minutes of the last session were read and confirmed.

The Warden addressed the Council briefly. He said he was glad to see the members present. He said he expected to see so many happy faces, knowing as he did that many of them would be left at home next year. He expressed his sorrow for the loss of Mr. Roberts (Snyder) and suggested that a resolution be proposed to send to his family. He welcomed his successor, Mr. B. Malloy. There had been many accidents since their last meeting and their apprehensions had consequently been overdone. He hoped when this session was concluded the members, most of whom would never meet again as members, would always leave the warmest feelings for each other.

A Graduate of Toronto University says: "My children have been treated with Scott's Emulsion during their childhood. Our physician first recommended it, and now whenever a child takes cold my wife immediately resorts to this remedy, which always effects a cure."

Amusement Notes.

THE GILBERT OPERA CO. opened a three nights engagement at the Carleton Opera House last night. They were greeted with a fair house and presented, and endeavored to present, a double bill, "Le Malincois" and "Grosche Kinetos." The performance was by no means up to the expectations of those present, who, although not expecting to witness a grand opera, were disappointed.

'97 MODEL CYCLES

Some Points of Improvement Over the 1896 Model.

Another Process.

We have been shown a letter, received by a customer in and from one of the oldest established firms of chemical engineers in England, offering to erect a plant for the treatment of our refractory ores at Marmora. The process is not a new one, having been known and successfully employed for a long time, but has been so greatly improved of late that the results of treatment, it is claimed, do not exceed $1 per ton. Another important feature of this process is the fact that the ash, as well as the gold, is saved, and a high value is placed upon our waste by this firm.

All the election protests in British Columbia have been dropped.

The inquiries of the Hood which caused excitement are, it is reported, connected with Hood's Sanatorium. Try it.

My baby has come, says a letter from a lady in New York, N. Y. to the editor of the Intelligencer. I require a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sanatorium. It is a powerful purgative and its action is rapid.

A MILLINERY LESSON.

THE SEVENTH OF THE PRACTICAL SERIES BY AN EXPERT.

The Possibilities of Ribbon Bows Fully Illustrated in This Lesson—A Hat with High Bow at the Back—A Hat with Ribbon Trimming.

It would be difficult to find two better examples of the possibilities of ribbon in the hair than those which are illustrated in this lesson. Fig. 1 shows a bow placed exactly at the back of the hat. The design is one of the newest, and shows the hat turned up at the back in the usual manner. A ribbon bow, two and a quarter yards of ribbon are required. You will notice that there are three ends, three loops of medium size, and one long one, besides the tie-over, which is cut in the middle, and then cutting the ribbon more than once, and that only because there are seven ends. The third end is the finish as it comes from the tie-over; the two grade wheels the purchaser can have wooden handle bars if he so desires. It is fully expected that tandem riding will be very popular next season, the manufacturers are bending every effort to turn out models in which beauty and strength are combined.

While none of the 187 tandems are yet to be seen here, photographs of them are shown, and those seen represent very handsome machines. Adjustable handle bars will be very generally used, and the most important improvement shown a vast improvement over previous styles. That the public takes an unusual interest in seeing the new 1897 models is shown by the crowds that surround them wherever they are displayed.

Running the Gauntlet.

"Running the gauntlet" is the latest recreation among wheelmen. The idea of the game is not especially new for the hero of Cooper's novels used to have the gauntlet experience as part of the programme of his captivity among the Indians, but its application to cycling and cyclers is decidedly unique. The wheelmen are always looking for some new scheme to give zest to their pleasure, and many of them think they've found it in the thing new. Plain scoring soon grows monotonous, as well as tire-some, and anything that diverts the mind either as a game or a race is welcomed. That's the reason running the gauntlet has the call at present, and that's why hard switches are in considerable demand.

The gauntlet runners start about 50 feet away from where the switches are waiting, and are armed with pointed switches.

Down come the intrepid wheelmen, heads down and bent low, checking one after another, and shouting like the wind. If they fly back, they are out.

When a runner is hit, he is out, and the game is over. The winner is the one who has the most switches left.

Running the gauntlet is a very popular game among wheelmen. It is a game of skill and endurance, and it is a game that is played in many parts of the country.

Some of the new 1897 models are now to be seen at the leading agencies in the various States. While they do not differ very materially in appearance from the 96 models, they show several points of improvement in construction. One product of a large manufacturer, successfully handling and presenting features that will commend themselves to the rider. The main part of the frame is made of 1.5-inch nickel steel tubing and has throughout dual joints in diameter.

The sprocket wheel has been spoken, and the function to which the sprocket is a part of the crank frame, thus being in one solid piece. The bar-hubs have studs inserted, each one sustaining a single spoke, and in this way the old can be turned and will adjust itself suitably in line with the draw of the spoke from the rim. The crank shaft is divided. To the hollow crank crown a nickel-plated plate is attached front and back on which the owner's name can be engraved. The bearings are dust proof and are guaranteed to keep the bearings well lubricated for at least a year. The feature that will prevent the necessity of oiling is bound to become popular. The tread measures five inches. The rims of the wheels are of good size, and the three 1.5-inch spokes in diameter.

In all the 1897 models the crank hanger is one to two inches lower than formerly. The handle bars are made of rubber and the lines of the frame are such as to meet the popular demand for a forward position. In all the high-a-four position. In all the high-a-four position.

ONE OF THE NEW IDEAS. That gives to the machine a very neat and attractive appearance. The rear forks have D-shape tubing.

ONE OF THE NEW IDEAS. That gives to the machine a very neat and attractive appearance. The rear forks have D-shape tubing.

The sprocket wheel has been spoken, and the function to which the sprocket is a part of the crank frame, thus being in one solid piece. The bar-hubs have studs inserted, each one sustaining a single spoke, and in this way the old can be turned and will adjust itself suitably in line with the draw of the spoke from the rim. The crank shaft is divided. To the hollow crank crown a nickel-plated plate is attached front and back on which the owner's name can be engraved. The bearings are dust proof and are guaranteed to keep the bearings well lubricated for at least a year. The feature that will prevent the necessity of oiling is bound to become popular. The tread measures five inches. The rims of the wheels are of good size, and the three 1.5-inch spokes in diameter.
